

The Rich are Getting Richer and the Poor are Getting Poorer

They claim that while the poor are growing poorer, the wealthiest are gaining richer.

On the one hand, this has been true since the financial crisis of 2008 and the 750 Occupy movements that followed in 2011, when the gap between the richest and poorest people grew.

In fact, according to a survey for the UK government, by 2030 the richest 1% would own two-thirds of the world's wealth. The staggering amount is $216 trillion.

Additionally, the 26 wealthiest people together own the same amount of money as the world's 3.9 billion poorest people, according to Oxfam.

By the summer of 2022, it appears that the gap will widen dramatically as rising living expenses drive people all over the world to utilise credit to pay for even the most basic necessities like rent, food, fuel, gas, and electricity.

They claim that while the poor are growing poorer, the wealthiest are gaining richer.

On the one hand, this has been true since the financial crisis of 2008 and the 750 Occupy movements that followed in 2011, when the gap between the richest and poorest people grew.

Our compound interest calculator will show you how much your money will grow over time if you invest it and re-invest your profits every year.

In fact, according to a survey for the UK government, by 2030 the richest 1% would own two-thirds of the world's wealth. The staggering amount is $216 trillion.

Additionally, the 26 wealthiest people together own the same amount of money as the world's 3.9 billion poorest people, according to Oxfam.

By the summer of 2022, it appears that the gap will widen dramatically as rising living expenses drive people all over the world to utilise credit to pay for even the most basic necessities like rent, food, fuel, gas, and electricity.

The reason for that?

Really, it's fairly straightforward: the financially educated are growing wealthy, while the financially uneducated are going poorer.

You can increase your wealth if you know what you're doing and how to accomplish it.

You run the risk of losing it if you don't know how to grow it.

Therefore, acquiring financial knowledge today will increase your likelihood of becoming wealthy... But you will become much wealthier via continuing knowledge.

What is financial education?

Simply put, gaining financial literacy entails developing a new perspective on wealth and money as well as a new way of managing your resources.

To spend less, save more, and invest some money in order to earn more, you must plan ahead.

The majority of individuals struggle to earn a living, but very few have mastered the art of making their money work hard for them.

Your money won't work hard to generate additional income for you if you keep it in a savings account. Currently, it's hardly moving at 0.02% or less (on average).

No matter how many savings accounts you have, you will not get wealthy with them.

Therefore, they choose to research alternative options pillar of wealth, such as property, stocks, cryptos, gold, silver and other "assets."

Of course, trading and investing are required to increase wealth using these assets.

However, isn't that highly dangerous?

At Investment Mastery, we put a strong emphasis on teaching learn stock market, which aids people in learning how to manage risk.

The fact that you may start small and never risk more than 1% while trading and investing greatly reduces risk and ensures that you are only investing what you can afford to lose.

And with the help of compound interest, your investments will gradually but certainly grow over time.

The next stage is to learn and practise trading and investing tactics once you've made the decision to learn more about investing and trading and have determined how much you can invest securely.

However, you must be sure that these are tried-and-true methods.

Learning about it is essential, whether you want to learn about forex trading, stock trading, commodities trading, or learn crypto trading.

But...

You must be willing, receptive, and driven to learn.

You must refine your mentality. Never be afraid. and control your emotions—keep them completely out of it.

Start your journey toward wealth and prosperity with knowledge.

You may learn to accomplish more with your money just by altering your attitude about it.

Actually, learning how to trade and invest is a fairly straightforward process. However, there are several things you must understand in order to perform it effortlessly.

These are manageable, and that is what we do when we offer investment mastery.

Learn more about how we assist clients in boosting their wealth through trading and investing here.

Investment Mastery is a premium training and education company providing the world with easy to follow and profitable trading & investing strategies, guaranteed!

Celebrating our 18th year in business in 2022, Investment Mastery and our CEO Marcus de Maria have trained over 50,000+ people across 25 countries and has produced over 200 training events since its inception in 2004.

Headquartered in North West London with a network of employees and partners around the world including Germany, Holland and Sweden, Investment Mastery has cemented our place as world-leading trading & investing educators.